- 28th of May 1931

I am a retired American actress of film, stage and TV.

I began performing on Broadway in 1954. Director Elia Kazan spotted me on stage and offered me the lead role in the adaptation of Tennessee Williams' play Baby Doll.

I starred in several critically acclaimed westerns including, How the West Was Won, The Big Country, and Cheyenne Autumn.

I portrayed Jean Harlow in the movie Harlow and had a minor role in the movie Giant with James Dean, Rock Hudson and Elizabeth Taylor.

- 3rd May 1903

I was a singer, comedian and actor.

In 1925, I decided to seek fame in California. I joined the Paul White-man organization and became part of the Rhythm Boys. We had our first number one hit Ol' Man River.

My solo career began in 1931 and my best-selling songs include "I Found a Million Dollar Baby" (in a Five & Ten Store), "Out of Nowhere", and "At Your Command".

In 1941 I recorded my biggest hit song "White Christmas". Among the movies I starred in are "The Road to Rio", "Going My Way", "The Bells of St. Mary", "White Christmas", and "The Country Girl".

6th May 1915

I was an actor, director and producer, famous for my avant-garde work in theatre, film and radio. I had a turbulent childhood; I lost my mother when I was 9 years old and went to live with my father who was an alcoholic.

My first stage experience was in 1931 while visiting Ireland where I gave an audition claiming I was a Broadway star. I also wrote and acted in radio plays. My adaptation of the novel by H. G. Wells' The War of the Worlds caused widespread panic in the streets of Los Angeles when listeners thought that Earth was being invaded by extraterrestrials. It brought me instant fame and success.

My first feature film – Citizen Kane - in 1941 is consistently ranked among the greatest films ever made. I married three times, once with Rita Hayworth.
